What can you do in the Message menu?

Lasting and measurable learning success

KnowledgePulse® allows you to consolidate the knowledge acquired during training and lets you retrieve learning statistics at any time. Once a course has been passed, successfully completed learning units are clearly documented in knowledge balance sheets. This provides a solid basis for learner certification and offers an overview of the educational assets in your business.

No additional time required

KnowledgePulse® allows users to complete learning steps in passing, without spending additional time looking for course material or driving to classes. The learning content is split into small learning units and offered as a learning step whenever a device is idle for a time.

Motivated learning

Opportunity promotes learning: free of any academic drill, employees playfully develop learning ambition. KnowledgePulse® guides them during the learning process and helps them learn in accordance with their personal learning progress, ensuring that the right steps are learned and repeated if necessary until success is attained.

The results speak for themselves

You do not need new technologies, new devices, or complicated system upgrades. KnowledgePulse® can be hosted externally or in-house. Content authoring is simple and content updates can be carried out by any employee. You can choose among various KnowledgePulse® Clients. We will gladly provide consulting on the MicroLearning strategy and integrated didactics (blended learning) appropriate for your enterprise.
